IHSPA

2014 FALL CONVENTION
FRANKLIN COLLEGE | OCT 16 & 17

WELCOME

TO THE 2014 IHSPA FALL CONVENTION

Welcome to the 2014 Indiana High School Press Association state journalism convention. We would like to extend a sincere thank you to everyone, including students, advisers and administrators, for attending this year's convention and your dedication to scholastic journalism.

Think about the people you see at school every day; the girl drawing in her sketchbook before school, the boy who always walks in late to class, or the couple who cannot bear to be without each other for a whole class period. These people all have something in common: they each have a unique story that begs to be told. Telling those stories is a job that journalists should take seriously. We ask the tough questions, listen intently and report the facts so our readers and listeners are more informed and in tune with the world around them. This year's convention, "Tell Me a Story," will give you the tools and knowledge you need to tell the interesting and inspiring stories of the people around you.

All on-site competitions will be held Thursday evening. Students will attend a special presentation by motivational speaker and comedian Chris Bowers. After a few brief announcements in the Spurlock Center Gym, students will be released to their on-site rooms, located in the Napolitan Student Center, Spurlock and Shirk Hall.

Friday's events will open with our keynote speaker, "Radiolab" Senior Producer Soren Wheeler. Following his presentation, you will have the opportunity to participate in four 45-minute workshop sessions led by a diverse group of experienced faculty. The convention will conclude with the awards ceremony in the Spurlock Center Gym.

We hope that you leave us today with a wealth of knowledge to take back and apply to your publications this year. Have a great time!

— IHSPA 2014 PLANNING COMMITTEE

SOREN WHEELER

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Soren Wheeler is the Senior Producer at the Peabody Award-winning show “Radiolab,” where he plays a variety of roles, including producer, editor and reporter. He also manages the production staff and oversees the development of show content.

Before coming to “Radiolab,” Wheeler was at the Association for the Advancement of Science, where he co-authored the book “Atlas of Science Literacy.” He spent six years as a freelance science education consultant working with science teachers and writing about how students learn science. He then went on to get a master’s degree in science writing at Johns Hopkins University.

Wheeler has won awards for production on radio pieces about statistics and randomness, the periodic table and the story of a woman waking up from a coma.

IHSPA | Branigin Room (Second Floor of Student Center)

STUDENT BOARD ELECTIONS

IHSPA | SC 245

SAVING HIGH SCHOOL NEWSPAPERS

Creating a high-quality publication takes more than good writing. Staff members must now enforce strong reporting, design and promotional strategies. This session will discuss the state of the high school press and present ideas on how to make your newspaper more attractive and accessible to your student readers.

Presenter: Terry Nelson, Blackford County HS

Location: Johnson Center 104

LEADERSHIP: SO YOU WANT TO BE A JOURNALIST AND A LEADER?

Tom Gayda, author of "Scholastic Journalism Leadership," will share strategies for leadership that he, other advisers and students have learned along the way. The session will provide helpful tips for motivating a staff and meeting deadlines as students enjoy the process.

Presenter: Tom Gayda, North Central HS

Location: Hamilton Library 311

SKYROCKET YOUR YEARBOOK SALES

You spend hours and hours creating your school's yearbook, so you want people to see it! In this session you will learn how to properly market your yearbook and increase your yearbook sales. We will also discuss ways to better reach your target audience using proven tactics and marketing pieces.

Presenter: Jared Wojtas, Walsworth

Location: Johnson Center 103

WRITING MEMORABLE PROFILES

Your school is full of people with stories that are just waiting for you to tell them! Your publications should have profiles that go beyond well-known information about these individuals, and should show, not tell, more about them. In this session, you will learn how to find these stories and how to write great profile features that the students of your school will remember.

Presenter: Janet McKinney, IHSPA Lifetime Member

Location: Johnson Center 101

RECORDING AND EDITING AUDIO: BEST PRACTICES

With today's technology, anyone can produce professional level audio for a podcast, yearbook or news website. You just have to know where to hold the mic and how to cut the sound.

In this session we will teach you how to get professional sound on simple recorders and cell phones and how to cut it without glitches and blips. Students will gain hands-on experience interviewing and cutting tape. This is for everyone who wants to work in audio or multimedia.

*Presenter: Sarah Neal-Estes,
Indiana University
Location: Shirk 103*

THE 10 DEADLY SINS OF JOURNALISM

Are you ready to take your writing to the next level? In this session, we will discuss a checklist of ten relatively simple things you can do as a writer to improve your storytelling skills And make you sound more professional.

*Presenter: Jim Streisel, Carmel HS
Location: Chapel Wymer Room*

PLAY HARD, WORK HARDER

Yearbook is supposed to be fun, but there is still a job to be done. A balance between work and play is essential to a harmonious staff environment. Editors will share ideas on staff bonding and organization to help make creating the yearbook a fun project rather than a tough chore.

*Presenters: Lisa Keene,
Crown Point HS
Location: Hamilton Library 309*

STUDENT BOARD ELECTIONS

Up to two students from each school are invited to attend this meeting and help elect the next IHSPA Student Board. Students who are running for the board must attend this session.

Location: Student Center 245

ADVISER BUSINESS MEETING

All advisers and lifetime members are invited to attend the annual meeting to discuss current IHSPA events and news. Please stay after the meeting for lunch and socializing.

Location: Branigin Room (Second floor of Student Center)

ADVISER ROUNDTABLE

Elizabeth Granger, Brian Hayes, Jill Lyday, & Teresa White | Branigin Room (Second Floor, Student Center)

CAMERA SHY

Do you typically avoid picking up a camera because of lack of training? Or do you think you're just not "photographer" material? Come learn a few basics and rules you can apply to help improve your photography. This session is basic and not intended for experienced photographers, but will help the non-photographer or new staffer work towards picking up a camera and becoming less camera shy.

Presenter: Melanie Mason, Eagle Tech Academy

Location: Johnson Center 102

TELL EVERYONE'S STORY

Every person in your school has a unique story to tell, and it's your job to tell them! In this session, you will learn about creative ways for your yearbook staff to be more inclusive in story coverage through design and photography.

Location: Johnson Center 103

CHANGES IN SPORTS WRITING

Gone are the days of simply reporting on games; today's sports world is full of challenging subjects like domestic violence, head injuries and economics. Learn how to translate that to interesting copy.

Presenters: Curt Cavin, Indianapolis Star

Location: Johnson Center 101

LIGHTS, CAMERA, CAPTION!

What's the most read copy in your publication? The captions, of course! Learn how to pick an amazing photo and write an in-depth caption for news, feature and sports photos. Practice your skills in the session to get ready to have awesome, photo-ready captions in your newspaper or yearbook.

Presenter: Sarah-Anne Lanman

USING AUDIO IN ONLINE STORIES

Audio, like all forms of media, has its own unique powers. This session will demonstrate the singular strengths of audio storytelling, give examples of how to use it with print and visual media and help brainstorm ways they can apply these lessons when they get back to school.

Presenter: Sarah Neal-Estes, Indiana University

Location: Shirk 103

IMPROVING YOUR ONLINE PUBLICATION

When you visit a website, what makes you want to stay and browse it or move on to another site? In this session, we will look at the practical aspect of websites and talk about interfaces, basic usability practices and interactive design. When you leave, you will have a bag of tips and tricks that you can take with you to make improvements to your online publication.

*Presenter: Erika Lee,
Indiana University*

Location: Hamilton Library 309

COLLEGE PUBLICATIONS: THE UPS, DOWNS AND ALL-AROUNDS

Are you thinking that you might like to work on a college or university publication? In this session, four former high school journalists and current college publication editors describe the challenges and advantages of working on a college publication.

*Presenters: Michael Majchrowicz,
Indiana Daily Student; Jacob Rund,
Statehouse File and The Franklin;
Sam Beishuizen, Indiana Daily
Student; Darian Eswine, The Franklin*
Location: Johnson Center 104

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR ONLINE VIDEOS

Interactive new sites attract high school readers, but it takes planning and skill to move beyond post text to a website. This session will look at how the professionals incorporate video and how you can do the same to improve your storytelling.

Presenters: Stephen Beard, Indianapolis Star

Location: Shirk 114

ADVISER ROUNDTABLE

Advisers are welcome to attend this round-table to talk about all things journalism. Representatives from IHSPA, Ball State, Indiana University, the Indiana Department of Education, and the Women's Press Club will be available as you ask questions, seek advice, and learn about Lily Grant opportunities, contests, IHSPA Internships and more.

*Presenters: Brian Hayes, Teresa
White, Jill Lyday, & Elizabeth Granger*
Location: Branigin Room

Presenter: Brian Hayes, Ball State

Location: Hamilton Library 311

11 TIPS TO BETTER DESIGN

Attention to details will turn your publication design from good to great. In this session, you will learn how you can make changes in your yearbook or newspaper design to make your publication more visually appealing.

Presenter: Nancy Hastings,

Lifetime Member

TELLING STORIES WITH PHOTOS

Everyone on staff should take pictures. Learn basic rules to taking award-winning photos. As a picture, history book, photos are the most important things for a great yearbook. Newspapers and web pages also need good photos to enhance every story. Every picture paints a 1000 words. but that just starts to tell the story. Learn to give the whole picture with good, storytelling captions.

*Presenter: Ann Herman,
Lifetime Member*

Location: Johnson Center 102

GOIN' BACK IN TIME . . . AT LEAST IN THE YEARBOOK

Organizing your yearbook chronologically can add variety and interest to your publication. Learn how easy it is to organize your book by the calendar and not by the sections. Chronological yearbooks allow even more coverage and keep it "timely."

*Presenter: Tracy Luke,
Bishop Chatard HS*

Location: Johnson Center 103

UNLOCKING THE MAGIC OF DESIGN

What can donuts, Waldo and a closet full of shoes teach us about yearbook design? Everything! In this session, you'll see how our brains are wired and how design can make people more likely to check out your spread.

Presenter: Bill Caulton, Avon HS

Location: Johnson Center 104

SCRAP THE RECAP?

Writing a sports article for your school paper? If so, game recaps just don't fly. Writing sports for the web? If so, well-written recaps can make your online sports section soar. In this session, you'll get useful sports writing tips for both print and online media.

Presenter: Mike Klopfenstein, Southport HS

Location: Chapel Wymer Room

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

Being the editor of a publication is one of the toughest jobs in the school. Have you ever wondered how editors in other schools do it? In this session, newspaper and yearbook editors can come and share leadership strategies, discuss common problems, and offer solutions.

*Presenters: Julie Elston,
Crown Point HS*

*Location: Johnson Center
Henderson Conference Room*
